Money is rapidly leaving the bank-safes for general circulation, and the circulation of the currency means improved vitality in trade. The demand for money is good, and the banks generally received 10 per cent., but there is an instance or two in which customers are allowed loans at the same 8 per cent. they had paid when money was less close. In the street the demand for loans is active at 1 or 2 per cent. a month, generally 1½ to 2. COTTON. Saturday is usually the quietest cotton day of the week, but vesterday, on the contrary, was not only the basiest day of the week, but the sales were the largest hitherto of the whole season. The market opened quiet, but or-ders came in plentifully to the foreign buyers, and soon all became life and movement, in which the speculators also took a hand. Liverpool deliveries showed a 3-32d advance, and Smith, Edwards & Co.'s Liverpool Cir-cular, the import of which we published on another page, makes it apparent that there is some anxiety on the other side to secure stocks.
